

Julia Young

Piano

Julia Young holds an ARCT diploma and a Licentiate diploma in Piano Performance and Pedagogy from The Royal Conservatory of Music. Ms. Young received her early musical training at Havergal College. She then studied in England for three years at St. James' School and returned to Toronto where she completed her ARCT in Piano Performance. She went on to complete a three-year residency program at the RCM, and was awarded a Licentiate Diploma in Performance and Pedagogy from the Glenn Gould Professional School.

Ms. Young returned to Havergal to co-found the Old Girls Choir. She spent seven Christmases organizing and singing concerts with the well-trained group of friends and choir members under the guidance of Elisabeth Muir. Currently, Ms. Young is active as an adjudicator and maintains a studio in her home in Toronto.
